The Vikings

The Vikings came from the modern Scandinavian countries of Denmark, Norway and Sweden.

They travelled in boats called longships and first arrived in Britain around AD 787.

The Vikings raided places such as monasteries and pillaged expensive items to trade. They were looking for valuable goods like gold and jewels, imported foods and other useful materials. The Vikings also wanted to claim land and tried to take over much of Britain. They invaded and settled in Scotland before heading south to places such as York.

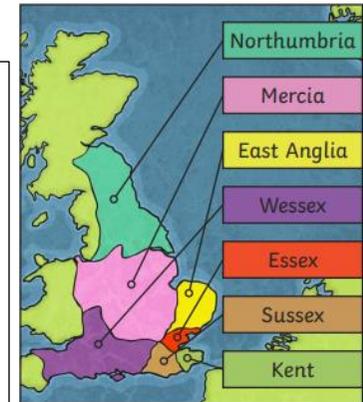

By AD 878 the Vikings had settled permanently in Britain.

The Anglo Saxons

The kings of Anglo-Saxon Britain each ruled their own kingdom and the people in it. They fought to defend their kingdom or take control of other kingdoms.

When the Anglo-Saxons first settled in Britain, there were seven kingdoms, but by AD 878 there was just one kingdom left (Wessex) as the others had been overrun by the Vikings.

Many Anglo-Saxon kings tried to resist the Vikings and fought hard to keep control of their land. King Alfred the Great was the best known Anglo-Saxon king and the first to defeat the Vikings in battle.

Viking Laws and Punishments

Viking laws were not written down but passed on by word of mouth. Punishments could include fines, being semi-outlawed, fighting to the death, or revenge on someone who has killed a family member.

Anglo Saxon Laws and Punishments

The Anglo-Saxon laws were similar to some we have today, although the punishments were very different. These were often very brutal and would be carried in public to try to prevent others from committing such crimes. Stoning, whipping and exile were common punishments; as well as paying a fine (wergild).
